

Encourage and harmonize the development of individual identity and intercultural openness.

Welcome to the homepage of Dr. Michael J. Sieber and CONSULTING ACROSS CULTURES!

On this site you will have the opportunity to learn about the basic features of my work.

It covers the fields of local and international coaching and the process of dialogue as a methodical basis and in various applications as well as how I can support you in the fields of international organization development and human resource development.

Finally my offer includes training methods in the area of international communication and cooperation.

Of course you will also get to know me as a person, my qualifications and my consulting approach.

I thank you for your interest and look forward to handling your inquiries at the following address.
